MAN IN THE STREET

Well, the new high school is to be built on exactly the same spot we told you it would. Now is the time for opponents of the site to jump in and make it unanimous, although, of course, it isn't essential to the carrying out of the project. The majority rules in Mishawaka as well as elsewhere.

The Prince of Wales got a black eye playing polo in Manila. There's no fun in getting a black eye that way.

Well, we hesitate to throw rocks at the Mishawaka church lookers. Suppose it was the practice in this country to fill the churches with pearls, diamonds and rubies by the peck and gold and silver by the ton? What do you suppose would happen in the land of the Free and the Home of the Brave?

Councilman George Hull, author and finisher of South Bend's parking ordinance, and a native born Mishawakan, was in the city Tuesday night and came near getting pinched for parking his car on the wrong side of the street while visiting Pusey's cigar emporium. Of course he bought for the crowd which remembered him in the callow days of his youth. He generously acknowledged that Mishawaka's parking system was patterned after his own on which he evidently thought he had a patent.

A dispatch from Genoa says prohibition in the United States is worrying the Europeans, who find the loss of the wine trade hurtful. What do they know about worry, without the agony of thirst to endure?

When a he vamp gets into action, folks begin to feel that somebody is playing hooky from the municipal rock pile.

A cable from London says that Charles E. Bunker, formerly employed in the local office of The News-

Times, swallowed a number of nails while demonstrating a new dental device. A swallow of bootleg would have had about the same effect, Charles.

Pres. Harding says his early years as a country printer were the happiest of his life and that he would be glad to go back to them. It wouldn't do. That would be a reversion to type and violate the true principle of progress.

The Los Angeles Express tells us that the organization of the Widow's Protective League in that city shows that the widows there are in arms. A very natural place for them to be, say we.

There are several lumber dealers in the town ready to answer your phone call about the bungalow.

Another thing is, the cat is not hazardous for the performers, for the listen-inners are out of range.

We suppose with 1000 more policemen in Chicago, the crime union will be called to call for 10,000 more burglars, volunteers, with additional artillery units.

We said it: Bill Dodge for mayor! new High School, E. Lincoln way. What do you want next?

The papers consider it important enough to say that Mary Pickford still loves her husband. That's fine.

Should he be left without a thought? He who gave all that you might continue unmolested in life. Your love and generosity prompts the answer "no!" Then be sure that his grave is sweet with flowers on Decoration Day.

Suppose you could wash a machine!

Wouldn't you wish for one tub in which to do all operations, instead of two or three?

Wouldn't you wish for a machine that would never require you to put your hands in hot, sultry water to rinse, blue or dry?

Wouldn't you wish for a machine that would dry the clothes for the line without a wringer?—and dry them like magic, in a minute?

Wouldn't you wish for a machine that simply couldn't smash, break or tear off buttons, fasteners, hooks and eyes?

Wouldn't such a machine seem ideal—seem like a dream?

Yet it's here—here now—and it's waiting for you to come and see it. Thousands of women now know their dream has come true.

This machine is called the Laun-Dry-Ette—we will gladly demonstrate it for you.

But it is too early to determine whether Mary is a star in the matrimonial marathon or merely a 40-year runner.

Chicago ought to be the chief consumer of hemp, but this will hardly be so long as the cigar makers find it such a popular substitute for tobacco.

The older we get, the further we look back and dream of the ham-and-eggs every day for a century would not be too often. And nobody ever has fried chicken for breakfast in these sinful times when spring chickens sell by the pound instead of by the dozen.

Early training is necessary. If we retard the trend of the times, to retrain the penchant the human fingers have for torturing themselves on other folks' property.

They are called "finishing" schools, perhaps, because they teach daughters to finish the remainder of dad's bank account.

The Atlanta Constitution thinks a wife should have the same right that the government enjoys of going through husband's pockets. Well, she does, and beats the gov-

They say gasoline will go to 30 cents, and we suspect that figure it will make a good many of the motorists feel about like that.

The announcement that belts are to give way to suspenders seems to have lacked authority. Now if they propose corsets, that might be different.

As the punster would remark, Pinchot was right there in the pinch.

Another reason why people are not intensely interested in the appeals of the candidates, they are not particularly interested in voting for anybody or anything, but want a chance to vote against somebody.

Optimism is the gleam of hope that cheers the soul when one is getting the worst of it at every turn, and pessimism is the sullen despair which makes one fear that if there were a cloudburst of vegetable soup he would be caught in the middle of a 40-acre lake with a fork.

We are not unmindful of the importance of home industry, but we believe the proposal to increase the tax on safety pins is not in the interest of the noblest, best and greatest home industry.

There are a lot of numskulls in this country eternally begging the government for something who do not know every time the government hands out a dollar it takes two from the taxpayer.

The Busy B's indicate the proper sequence of your aspirations: Bank account, Bride, Bungalow, Baby, Brindisepur, Buzz-wagon.

Anyway, when the railway men talked about $5,000,000 to start a newspaper, they evidently had a pretty fair idea of the expense.

In Davenport, Ia., one weary taxpayer declares society is divided into two classes, viz., those who still have a little and those who have a little still. There is another class made up of those who "ain't got nothin", and ain't had none.

There Are Many New Things in Pianos

DEVELOPMENTS of the utmost importance to everyone interested in pianos have been taking place. One is the greatest fundamental improvement in the pianoforte in generations! This, for the first time, enables the small child to play with expression. Another is the perfection of a reproducing piano at moderate cost.

You should be familiar with these improvements. They can be seen at this store only. Come in and ask for demonstrations—no obligation.

Lyon & Healy Reproducing Piano

How seldom can one hear Paderewski or other famed pianists in recital! Now, however, through this marvelous new instrument, you may enjoy their playing in your own home at will. For the Lyon & Healy Reproducing Piano duplicates the touch of their fingers upon the keys with absolute fidelity. It will place the greatest masters of classical music, as well as the leading ragtime pianists and composers, always at your command.

Come in and see this magnificent piano; hear it play! Only thus can you gain any real appreciation of its beauty and of the unequalled value it affords. In upright models at $5000, or in the exquisite Apartment Grand style at $6000.

All Lyon & Healy Pianos Have the Junior Pedal

Not since Cristofori invented the hammer action in 1709 has such a far-reaching improvement in the piano been brought forth! The small child can now learn to play properly from the very start. For the Junior Unfolding Two-Level Pedal puts all the tonal possibilities of the instrument wholly under the child's control.

Think what this means in the musical education of your girl or boy! Learn what Rachmaninoff, Bauer, Grainger, Godowsky, and many other world-famed pianists say of its importance.

To have the great advantage of the Junior Pedal costs you not one cent extra! It is simply added value in all Lyon & Healy Pianos and Washburn Pianos (Lyon & Healy made).

The Apartment Grand

Here is the ideal piano for the modern home. Into a size proportioned to your living room, it brings the beauty and distinction, the incomparable tonal quality, of the finest concert grand. Little more space is required than for an upright. The Junior Pedal, Candelectra, and Silent—exclusive Lyon & Healy features—emphasize its notable value at $6000.
